

Acknowledgement to peer-reviewers

Language, Discourse & Society expresses its gratitude to the peer-reviewers who accepted to undertake this important and mandatory task upon which rely the academic publishing process, and the quality of the articles offered by Language, Discourse & Society to the scientific discussion. The following alphabetical list is related to all the scholars who acted as peer-reviewers for LD&S between January 2018 and December 2018.

Thank you to:

Marc Bernardot, University Aix-Marseille, France
Maddalena Cannito, University of Milano, Italy
Jeroen Darquennes, University of Namur, Belgium
Catherine Delcroix, University of Strasbourg, France
Ilona Delekta, University of Silesia in Katowic, Poland
Claudine Gaibrois, University of St. Gallen, Switzerland
Caterine Galaz, Universidad de Chile, Chile
Ani Kvirikashvili, Ilia State University, Georgia
Marta Kulesza, Maria Grzegorzewska University, Poland
Virginie Lethier, University of Besançon, France
Kathleen Manion, Royal Roads University, Canada
Josiane Martin-O'Brien, Paris-Dauphine, France
Delphine Mercier, LEST Laboratoire d'Economie et de Sociologie du Travail, France
James Moir, Abertay University, United Kingdom
Nassima Neggaz, University of Oxford, United Kingdom
Laura Odasso, University Aix-Marseille, France
Celine Marie Pascale, American University, United States of America
Anna Perkowska-Klejman, Maria Grzegorzewska University, Poland
Roland Pfefferkorn, Université de Strasbourg, France
Laurence Pillant, University Aix-Marseille, France
Ingrid Sahlin, Lund University, Sweden
Tinka Schubert, Universitat Rovira i Virgili, Spain
Natalie Slade, Massey University, New Zealand
Gareth Dylan Smith, Little Kids Rock, United States of America
Matthew Woorley, University of Reading, United Kingdom
Rika Yamashita, Kanto Gakuin University, Japan