Call for guest-editors for e- journal Language, Discourse and Society

Language, Discourse & Society is an international peer-reviewed journal published twice annually (June and December) in electronic form. The journal publishes high-quality articles dedicated to all aspects of sociological analyses of language, discourse, and representation.

All interested guest-editors are invited to submit a proposal (a call for papers) in order to edit a thematic issue. The editor-in-chief will consider proposed calls for papers based on a clear commitment to studies of language. Language, Discourse & Society cannot publish proceedings. Guest-editors are free to choose the thematic focus of their proposed issue.

The description of the role of Language, Discourse & Society guest-editor is described below. Each guest-(co-)editor is responsible for the following:

- Writing the call for articles within the framework of LD&S editorial priorities and incorporating into that a statement indicating that LD&S cannot publish proceedings.

- All communications with authors

- The evaluation process of articles, which includes:
1) identifying potential reviewers to help guarantee a review process in which each article is peer-reviewed by at least two reviewers.
2) making the final decision regarding the selection of articles in accordance with the editorial purview of LD&S and the reviewers' input.
3) ensuring that authors maintain the proper formatting, that is, following the format provided in the LD&S template regarding, e.g., front page, font size, headings, line spacing, and margins.
4) ensuring that authors present figures and tables using the LD&S style
5) ensuring the basic editing of each article, such as, confirming that
   a) in-text references are mentioned in the reference section of the article;
   b) references listed in the reference section are all quoted within the article
   c) references follow APA format
   d) authors follow LD&S-style in-text citations
6) developing agreed upon review, assessment, and production deadlines with the editor-in-chief to ensure submission of the completed issue for on time publication.

The position of guest-(co-)editor is unpaid. The guest-(co-)editor cannot publish an article in the LD&S issue they oversee, neither as principal author, nor as co-author. Their name is indicated as follows: "This issue of Language, Discourse and Society about {here the final title of the thematic issue} is edited by {here the name of the editor(s)}."

Language, Discourse & Society accepts electronic submissions year-round. Please send your proposals to: journal@language-and-society.org
